Hitler Germany's announcement Monday night that secret negotiations with Stalin were culminating in a "non-aggression" pact between Hitler and Stalin came as a thunderbolt to the European chancelleries, the "Peoples Fronters", the imperialist lackeys of the Second and Third Internationals—but it was no surprise to the Fourth Intenational.

NEW YORK CITY-A real indication of how the members of the International Typographical Union stand on the question of labor unity was furn ished this week-end by "Big Six" as Local 6 of the I.T.U., the largest unit in the union, is known.

A special resolution was adopted at a membership meeting urging the I.T.U. to defy the AFL executive council on the issue of assessments levied for a war against the CIO.

Only last week William Green, president of the AFL, announced the suspension of the I.T.U. for its refusal to contribute an assessment to the AFL "war chest."

Issues Involved

For two years the I.T.U. has persistently refused to collect this tax of one cent per member, which would amount to $22,000, and turn it over to the AFL executive council.

At the last convention of the AFL the seating of the I.T.U. delegates was a hot issue because of its stand on this question but a compromise was worked out which simply postponed action on the question.

The AFL council precipitated a crisis on this problem last week because the I.T.U. is holding its national convention at Fort Worth, Texas now and the council hopes that the policy of the I.T.U. can be changed.

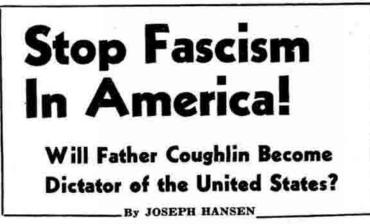

The purpose of the Big Six resolution is to crystallize national sentiment within the I.T.U. for a "Don't fight the CIO" attitude.

There is another and just as fundamental issue involved in the dispute between the I.T.U. and the AFL executive committee. The right of autonomy.

Elmer Brown, newly-elected president of the Big Six, pointed it out in a prepared speech given before the union voted on the resolution.

The AFL does not have the right to levy an assessment on the printers because the union is an autonomous affiliate of the AFL, according to the view of the I.T.U.

"The AFL has been exercising authority never intended by the membership of the AFL. I could never agree to submit to the policies advocated by the

(FIFTH INSTALLMENT)

For years certain German industrialists, who pondered very deeply over what had happened in Italy, kept a few promising politicians of the lunatic fringe well-fed and noisy enough to attract a skeleton even of thugs and bigots to their banner.

Principal among these capitalist politicians-he had taken over similar groups-was Adolf Hitler, an obscure moocher of the Vienna cafes and pool halls who considered himself a hot-shot hair-splitter when the boys in the beer joints untangled their tongues and warped views on life. He had served in the World War, claimed to have been a housepainter for a few weeks until the painters' union ran him off as a scab when he refused to take out a union card.

A Catholic, he admired the organizational methods of the Roman Church very much, even studying them carefully, according to his own admission. (Mein Kampf, Hitler's Autobiography, p. 682.)

Adolf Hitler was well-liked by the more astute of Germany's capitalists. They talked about him in their exclusive clubs, studied his program, listened to him orate, watched him in action.

So far as they could judge, Hitler had all the marks of a German Mussolini.

He swung a powerful salute, combed his hair down over his forehead in a forelock. When he spoke, the veins in his forehead and neck swelled out like knotted cords. He dubbed himself Der Fuehrer.

For years he had been whacking away at constructing a national scapegoat. In private conversations with Big Business men, he washed off the circus paint and spoke very coolly and precisely about what he could do for them and by what organizational and tactical methods.

Let it not be misunderstood for one moment that Adolf Hitler was a representative of Italian Fascism. He was not Hitler admired Italian Fascism. He spoke well of Mussolini. But he was not an agent of Mussolini.

HE WAS AN AGENT OF BIG BUSINESS.

It is true that Hitler, like Mussolini, advocated a COR-PORATE STATE.

But his was a German movement. He didn't call it fascism.

He called it NAZISM.

Hitler Grinds out Promises

Few demagogues in history gave away brighter promises than Adolf Hitler. He not only promises everybody the fulfillment of his dream, but he painted new dreams to embellish the old.

First he talked the situation over with the big industrialists such as Thyssen, the steel magnate. They settled very easily, quickly, and amicably between themselves the ist Appeal. She says:

"Nor would I ever recommend that my union submit to the dictation of the executive council of the AFL. To do so would destroy the autonomy of the International Typographical Union."

"It is my opinion that this suspension was timed for one purpose only: that the reactionaries within the executive council of the AFL had hoped that by suspending the I.T.U. on the eve of its convention they would intimidate us. They can suspend us, they can fight us, but they can not intimidate us,' Brown declared.

Danger of Split

If the I.T.U. nationally follows its present line and refuses to pay the assessment, many new complications will develop in the AFL internally. Automatic suspension from Central Trades and Labor Assemblies might follow. And the relationship of the I.T.U. to other unions in the Allied Printing Trades Councils becomes a new headache. For which the main responsibility will rest on the AFL executive council because of its intransi gent attitude toward the auton omy of the I.T.U.

Naturally, the stand of the AFL executive council tends to throw the I.T.U. into the arms of the CIO, especially if all the complications develop.

Meanwhile, progressives with in the AFL have a job on their hands to prevent a split in local bodies because of the suspension of the I.T.U.

Der Fuehrer promised that all the department stores would be divided up among small merchants.

Der Fuehrer promised that the land would serve "communal purposes" and no interest taking would be allowed if it meant foreclosures.

Der Fuehrer promised that education would be made available to the children of poor parents.

Der Fuehrer promised that the state would protect health.

Der Fuehrer promised that a people's army would replace the regular army.

Der Fuehrer promised that the viewpoint of "positive Christianity" would be taken.

Der Fuchrer promised to end all unemployment.

But all these promises constituted only run of the mill filler in his program. More important were his scathing attacks against the Versailles treaty which had humiliated Germany, forced her to pay reparations, taken away her colonies, crushed her armed might, split her people among different border nations.

All this Der Fuehrer promised to rectify immediately. Then-most important of all for his strategy-he utilized these grievances as a springboard for a poisonous and relentless attack against racial minorities in Germany, who, he said, were the real cause of the economic ills rocking the land.

The Art of Constructing a Scapegoat

How to divert the rage and desperation of the people away from the real cause, the capitalists, to some scapegoat?

That was the crucial problem facing Der Fuehrer. "A number of essentially different internal enemies must always be regarded as one in such a way that in the opinion of the mass of one's own adherents the war is being waged against one enemy alone. This strengthens the belief in one's own cause and increases one's bitterness against the attacker." (Adolf Hitler in Mein Kampf, p.

Before he began propagandizing, there was very little prejudice in Germany against the Jews, as Hitler himself points out in Mein Kampf. He counts it as one of his supreme achievements to have whipped up one of the greatest and most bloody pogroms in history against these unfortunate people. Hitler remarks that his audiences were astonished at first and refused to believe him when he declaimed that the "Jew" was their enemy.

But the people were suffering so terribly from hunger. the democratic capitalist government gave so little for relief, that they were willing to turn to almost anyone who promised a positive program and was clearly headed in the direction of action.

When Hitler saw the oppressed layers begin to fall for his line, he rejoiced. He knew that it would lead inevitably to the major objective, smashing the labor movement through splitting the oppressed into two camps, those whom he dubbed "Jews" and those whom he dubbed "Gentiles," who would then tear at each other's throats until one fell; and the other, exhausted by the struggle, could not ward off the axe of the capitalist executioner. ### N.Y. Anti-Fascist Protest Sends Coughlinites Scurrying for Cover NEGRO QUESTION In the World of Labor By Paul G. Stevens = a struggle against the British oppressors.

West Indians Will Fight—

At Home, against Own Oppressors If Great Britain finds herself involved in a war as a result of the present European crisis, she can expect little assistance from her colonial subjects in the West Indies.

This opinion was expressed here by E. V. Allen, one of the twelve Negro legislators in the Jamaica legislative council, in an interview with the Pittsburgh Courier of Aug. 19.

"If England is drawn into another war in Europe, it is my opinion that the people of the West Indies will refuse to fight " he said. "The government has shown no interest in the people's problems and the people would have no interest in theirs. The average Englishman who is sent out from Great Britain has no interest in the islands except to draw his salary."

Lest some New Deal enthusiast interpret such a stand as even in the slightest indicating preference for the benevolent imperialism closer to their shores, the Jamaica legislator specified:

'In spite of anti-British feeling, however, the average West Indian would not welcome the annexation of the islands by the United States. They would even prefer an independent status to this."

We assume that the "even" in the last sentence was merely giving point to the immediacy with which the people of the islands would like to get rid of British rule. Their official representatives, at present still moderate and not quite revolutionary in their perspectives, regard independence in this day of rapacious imperialist appetites as quite a risk.

While the West Indians are quite firm in their opposition to war for the salvation of the British Empire, they are nevertheless not at all inclined to be pacifists. They carried on militant, fighting strikes in Jamaica last year. Mr. Allen reports that as a result of these struggles, some improvement in economic conditions has taken place.

"Prior to this (the 1938 'riots')," the interview quotes Allen as saying, "the average laborer earned only about 35 cents a day. Since the 'riots,' the average wage has risen to 50 and 60 cents a day, but this is still too far low for decent existence. . . . What we really want is an improvement of economic conditions in our present status."

And, if last year's strikes are an indication, the West Indians know that they can achieve that by fighting. The interview may be summed up simply: If the Negro people of the islands are going to fight, it will not be in an imperialist war for Great Britain but in No wonder the great "democrats" in Downing Street are so hot for peace and appeasement! They know that the last word will be ing lots, the rest being scat- and Coughlinites."

It follows inevitably that racial chauvinism is a social characteristic in all these countries. Each imperialist power, however, has its own special type of chauvinism, based on its national peculiarities. What is important for us is that each specific type is faithfully reflected in the revolutionary movement of each country.

> > Talk intimately to an American Negro who is disillusioned with the Communist Party. Mingled with his disgust at the political degeneration of the C.P., will be a melancholy tale of personal insults, social discrimination, and similar conficts springing directly out of the race relationships prevailing in capitalist America. Yet he has to admit that, when one looks back over the last 25 years, it is in the militant working class movement "repudiation": "I understand took an apologetic tone in his and particularly in its revolutionary wing that the greatest progress has been made towards real political solidarity and social equality, in association between members of the races.

> Chauvinism in personal relations is not, to the politicallyas using the wrong tactics. He be understood from an international approach.

In Great Britain and in France there are a few Negroes in the revolutionary movement. Social antagonisms such as those which take place in America are conspicuously absent. Not only the French revolutionaries but French bourgeois society on the whole displays a remarkable absence of racial prejudice. Even in England where race prejudice is very strong, personal relationships between white and colored revolutionaries are exceptionally good. Little trouble ever arises about Negro or other colored comrades staying in the homes of white revolutionaries. their leaders over the call of slighting of Negroes and their friends at socials, etc. There the the Socialist Workers Party for radical movement in England differentiates itself sharply from The wrath of the workers at a United Front between the two English bourgeois and petty-bourgeois society which was the most race-conscious in Western Europe before the Nazis came to power in Germany in 1933.

British Chauvinism and the African Revolution

Yet the English revolutionary movement is eaten to the marrow with a most dangerous anti-Negro chauvinism. An English revolutionary, in thinking of the colonial revolution, thinks always of India but very rarely of Africa. India has produced world-famous leaders, like Gandhi and Nehru. India has a great of the Socialist Workers Party history, a great cultural heritage. The Indian masses have many achievements to their credit in recent years, and these are widely known. An English radical has no difficulty in conceiving of great revolution in India. This does not make him like Indians more. Quite often, English men and women admit that they find it easier to get on with African and West Indian Negroes than with many Indians.

> But this same Englishman, who when he wants to go to the pictures or to a dance or to go camping, calls up his Negro friend instead of an Indian, finds it hard to think of an African revolt. He speaks always of the English revolutionaries winning power in England and then "granting" freedom to Africans. He has accepted almost completely the evaluation of Negroes propagated by British imperialism. He sees Africans as incapable of independent action on a large scale, unable to organize a revolutionary struggle, to seize the power and hold it. In other words, he sees them essentially as the bourgeois sees them. The African for him is the revolutionary white man's burden.

In the French revolutionary movement, the situation is difers, Christian Front, Bundists, fresh move. One defeat will not ferent. The French used hundreds of thousands of Negroes in the last, and are preparing to use millions in the coming war. Not dissimilar in their social approach to individual Negroes. the revolutionary movements of Britain and France are wide apart in their conceptions of the African revolution.

American Marxists and Bourgeois Ideas

The American Marxist is much closer in this to the English than to the French revolutionary. It should not be so. The Negroes have a great revolutionary history in America. Here is one revealing incident.

During the Civil War, an independently organized detachment of free Negroes in the South fought for the Confederacy. When the Confederacy was defeated in their state, they joined the North. They were ready to fight with the Devil against God or

The Garvey movement is one of the most remarkable politiof endorsing Democrats or and they are forced to couch cal eruptions that has taken place in America during the last "good men" unaffiliated with their opposition in the most quarter of the century. Most American revolutionaries treat it labor, was put on the agenda of ambiguous of terms. Their with an extreme lightmindedness. Merely backward Negroes the Flint labor movement by method recently has been to misled by a demagogue. For proof? No serious study of the action of the CIO Council here, say they were for the labor Garvey movement exists. "The Negro 'accepts'. The white proat its meeting Sunday, Aug. 13. party in principle, but conclud- letariat will have to emancipate him." The Negro is seen always at the tail of the revolutionary movement. In other words, like Four A's. Radio stars are in funds for personal use, brought would assist the Four A's, and the four A tionaries function mentally pretty much within the limits laid down by the American bourgeoisie. It was the Communist International which held the American C.P. by the scruff of the neck and made it take the Negro question seriously.

> Yet even in the revolutionary days, the C.P. still saw the Negroes as a tail to their own movement. The C.P. conception was that the white revolutionaries had a "duty" to the Negroes. You might as well say that a man has a "duty" to save himself from drowning. The class-conscious white workers have to realise the vast importance, the absolute necessity of having the millions of Negroes with them, of realising that the place of the Negroes is in the front of the struggle. We of the Fourth International have now raised this question to its full status theoretically. What we have to do now is to make this conception a part of our mental equipment. But to do this we must break absolutely with bourgeois ideas about the Negro. The bourgeois lies about the Negro's past. He lies about the Negro's present. He lies about his future. He manufactures fake science to prove the Negro inferior. He manufactures a fake Negro to justify his oppression of the real Negro. The bourgeois not only lies himself but is the cause of lies in others. He has managed to instill quite a substantial portion of his own lies about Negroes into the minds of Negroes themselves. We as Marxists have to repudiate and denounce on every occasion all that the American bourgeoisie so pertinaciously circulates about Negroes.

And having broken with bourgeois ideas we must vigorously create our own, for if we do not, bourgeois corruption will come mediately before the limited pouring in on us again. So conscious and complete a break with American bourgeois ideas about Negroes has never been made in America before. In the old revolutionary days the C.P. went a certain distance but stopped short, and its rapid degeneration prevented its complete theoretical emancipation. Only a Marxist party can even attempt it. Determinedly carried through, such an ideological approach is the real beginning of the gigantic upheaval which will lift not one or two but the fifteen millions of Negroes to their rightful place in American society.

12. Full Social, Political And Economic Equality For the Negro People

Today the Socialist Workers Party takes a further step in the elaboration of the program for which we fight TODAY. We add to the eleven demands we carry under our editorial box, a twelfth: full social, economic and political equality for the Negro people.

Its previous omission has not been accidental. Our fundamental program, the principles of socialism, demand a resolute and uncompromising revolutionary struggle for the rights of all the oppressed, and none in America are more oppressed than the Negro people. But our party, lacking the resources to engage in this task, hesitated to proclaim as one of our immediate objectives and tasks the struggle for Negro rights.

That period is now over. The Negro question has become and will continue to be one of our main fields of activity. Our press reflects the activities already undertaken by our party. The demand therefore is today no mere pious wish or gesture, but a slogan for immediate and continuous action.

Second to none in importance is this demand strike, whether in private industry or on public works projects.

This fight also gives American labor the opportunity to tear away the veil of secrecy from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, whose under-cover men gathered the "evidence" for the indictments. The F.B.I. is today, as it was during the post-war years, a strike-breaking agency.

These government spies are known by the term "agents-provocateur," the malodorous French word which has become part of all languages, to describe the government agent who disguises himself as a striker and himself does or incites others to do things which serve to justify governmental repressions.

Under Attorneys General Palmer and Dougherty, the F.B.I. agents were notorious for their role as agents-provocateurs. The authoritative Encyclopedia for the Social Sciences says that "by themselves committing actual crimes of violence attributed to radicals . . . the agents of the bureau kept the country conscious of their services."

Their role became so scandalous that, under Attorney General Harlan F. Stone, orders were issued to abolish the political-police function of the F.B.I. The general impression was that this had been done-until the Minneapolis WPA strike revealed that Attorney General Murphy had re-created the political-police function of the F.B.I.

In one of those rare slips which reveal the cesspools underneath us, the Minneapolis Daily Tribune of July 24 published a story headed, "F.B.I. agents who posed as WPA riot pickets to testify in inquiry." The story itself revealed that, "Wearing overalls and other articles of workmen's clothing, the agents, posing as pickets and onlookers, mingled with the crowd surging around the project building. . . . When the shooting and tear gas bombing started, the agents scattered with the rest of the crowd."

Able attorneys of the trade unions can, in the course of this trial, determine what these agents, posing as pickets, did to provide the police with a pretext for firing on the strikers.

No front is neglected in the ever-hastening preparations for the war. While, last week, the nations were turning out new armaments at the rate of two billions of dollars worth a month, and additional millions of men were being mobilized in Europe, Columbia University, second richest of this country's educational institutions, was doing its bit in the moral make-ready.

Under the direction of Dean Russell of Columbia's Teachers College (the most influential school of education in the United States), a three days "Congress on Education for Democracy" was held and immensely publicized in the press. Some 400 "delegates" of various organizations were present, and several thousand others attended the sessions.

The meaning of the Congress was well symbolized by its leading guest and by the chairman of its key session, the huge banquet held at the Waldorf-Astoria

Earl Baldwin of Bewdley, elder statesman of Britain's Conservative party, was the guest. Winthrop W. Aldrich, head of the country's largest bank, the Chase National, was the chairman.

Such Congresses, however, are never complete without their "left decoration". To their shame and disgrace, this was prominently provided by Ernest Bevin, one of the chiefs of the British Trades Unions and the British Labor Party: Charles Beard, America's leading liberal historian; Norman Thomas, whose picture the Times wisely featured; and William Green, who sent an effusive message from Atlantic City.

Democracy of Baldwin and Aldrich

The dozens of speeches at the sessions were studded with some of the biggest generalities on record. Simple facts and concrete details were beneath the scorn of these master-minds. Here were to be found only "eternal truths": freedom and liberty and conscience and God. "If civilization is to avoid overwhelming damage," bleated President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia, "and perhaps ruin for centuries, there is something to be done which must be done now".

No one, of course, was so indiscreet as to mention just what it is that "must be done now". But they did not need to put it into words. What must be done, the whole Congress implied and prepared for, is to go to war against the Axis powers.

The most farcical performance of the whole three days was the speech of the Ambassador from Poland. Poland, giving its lessons to the peopleon democracy! Poland, land of eternal military dictatorship, pogroms, suppression of minority rights, everlasting violence against the labor movement, telling just how and why we must 'fight for democracy"!

But it should not be imagined that this Congress was a trivial affair or a joke, or that the time, en- . ergy and money spent on it was wasted. Congresses such as these, and the permanent organization which issued out of it, are an indispensable part of imperialism's preparation for war.

It is particularly significant that Teachers College sponsored this Congress. Imperialism prostitutes everything in society to its ends, and firm control over the educational system, with the educators' vast influence over the moral and intellectual climate of the public, is essential to its plans. It must be confessed, alas, that the big shots of the teaching world do not need much urging to fulfill their prostitutes' role.

The people would never accept the war if they knew one-half of the hideous, vicious truth about for the destruction of the centuries-old oppression of the Negro people. It is not a task for specialized sections of the party, but for the whole party. The struggle for the rights of the fifteen million Negroes in this country is indissolubly bound up with the fight for the emancipation of all the oppressed.

Seventy Indicted

About seventy WPA strikers and labor leaders of Minneapolis were indicted August 18 by a Federal grand jury.

Their names will not be known until they are all rounded up and arrested.

They were indicted under section 28 of the Roosevelt-Woodrum Relief Law-an obscurelyworded provision which makes it a crime to "interfere" with WPA projects in any way.

Their "interference" was, of course, the WPA strike for the prevailing wage.

"You can't strike against the government," said Roosevelt, and Attorney General Murphy convened this grand jury to put teeth into Roosevelt's edict.

The trials will take place at the opening term of United States district court in Minneapolis, which begins September 26.

Two years imprisonment or $2,000 fine or both are the penalties provided by the Roosevelt-Woodrum Relief Law.

If the Roosevelt administration can successfully carry through its prosecutions and get convictions in Minneapolis, it will undoubtedly then seek to secure convictions against the building trades union leaders in New York, Chicago and elsewhere, who are still conducting WPA strikes.

The fight to defend the Minneapolis unionists against this frameup is, therefore, the fight of the entire American labor movement. In Minneapolis, the Central Labor Union, central body of the AFL unions, will lead the fight. It should receive, not merely the moral support, but the most direct collaboration of unions everywhere, in the fight to prevent the Roosevelt administration from railroading seventy union men to jail.

This fight is not only a problem. It is also an opportunity. An opportunity for the American labor movement to establish, once for all, the fundamental right of American workers to "Other members will be added later to make it representative of all essential industries, like War Industries Board in last war.

"Stettinius, 39-year-old head of U. S. Steel, top man of new Board, is in line to be the 'civilian dictator of industry' . . . if war comes."

The gathering was entitled a Congress on Education for Democracy. Now I will be the first to grant that the world is very much in need of education for democracy. A Congress in this country might well devote its serious attention to the subject.

Spokesmen from the United States could easily compose most eloquent speeches explaining how U. S. imperialism murders democracy through its military dictatorship in Puerto Rico, and could raise the democratic demand for the independence of Puerto Rico. They could tell how the ten million Negroes of the South are deprived of all democratic rights, and herded in squalid, disease-ridden ghettoes; and demand full political, economic and social rights for the Negroes. They could analyze the M-Day plans of the U.S. government, already in their first stages of setting up a totalitarian military dictatorship.

The Polish speaker could discuss the endless crimes of the Polish landlords, industrialists, politicians and generals against democracy.

The British delegates would not have to search far for material. They could tell the story of Ireland. They could show by what devices an imperialist handful keeps 350,000,000 Indians ground into the earth-and might even make clear that democracy, genuine democracy, means immediate freedom and independence for India. They could give the simple facts about Palestine, Ceylon, South Africa.

And they might, all of them, show why, if a war involving all of mankind threatens, the peoples themselves are not given the right to decide wheth-
