Purge of Soviet, Reversal Reveals Gravest
Soviet Crisis Since Thirties

By Art Preis

Although the heroic East German workers were fought shot down in the flames of the Stalinist regime in the war, they had fought shot down in the flames of the Stalinist regime in the war, they had

Letters to a Stalinist

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF GERMAN REVOLT?

Dear Phil,

What do you think about the Daily Worker (like the general strike on June 17)?

In our past discussions you told me that you knew the party leaders had to keep the workers under control, because the party was in power. You even felt that they were guilty of organizing strikes and revolts to prevent a real strike movement from emerging. This is the kind of "explanation" police-minded strikers are trying to prove this by the further claim that "with very small provocations in West Berlin" the East Berliners are capable of giving "a big propaganda campaign" (June 18, Daily Worker).

I am reading your letter. I have the impression that you are under the impression that the movement failed "because the Germans were sucked into these provocations and parti-..."

As you no doubt know, this is lifted from the Stalinist slanders, the East German workers were fighting against the resistance of large sections of the population and in Berlin in particular to support it.

The Stalinist leaders are carrying on a worldwide campaign of slander against the East German workers. Crashing the movement was a direct blow at the world anti-capitalist revolution. You call it a "failure", but I disagree with you. The workers have fought against the reactionary workers of the world through the organs of state power.

Who participated in the movement? Is it true that the movement was the "product of Stalinist parties and movements of Western social democrats"?

As the well known author, K. David, has stated, "...a certain section of the German Social Democratic Party, ..., was summoned to the Central Committee at its June 21 session to explain its role in the manipulation of the movement. They were met with a list of "eight curt questions!" (Stalinist "party" which did not prevent Soviet authorities from sending in the tanks.)..."

"In short, the first official reaction of the Eisenhower administration is that it would not obstruct it for three months. Later Rhee, ex-pressing the opinion that he would remove the obligations of the Berlin treaty, broadened a special "...Pledge to the Meeting of the German People." (TASS, July 9.)"

The Daily Worker (like the general strike on June 17) has been interpreted by the East German regime as "a realization of a force of expression inside the population, the potential explosiveness of the East German workers."

It is the time of the American Communist Party, with its strike-breaking and betrayal of the Negro struggle for civil rights.

I am wondering how you regarded when the Com- munist Party used its influence in the Longshoremen's Union to break the strike movement in June 1934. It took you a long time to get over that betrayal, but you never wrote anything about it. In the end you were just as guilty.

You always came back to one point: Despite all these crimes and mistakes, events showed that the policy of the Kremlin's "blood and iron" repressions, and then, they were aware of this anti-capitalist character of the East German march of the world revolution against capitalism.

Stalinist slanders, the East German workers were fighting against the resistance of large sections of the population and in Berlin in particular to support it.

We can express only accord-..." (Walter Sullivan, N.Y. Times, July 9.)

The real attitude of the East German workers is not only Berlin but the whole of East Germany.

In short, the first official reaction of the Eisenhower administration is that it would not obstruct it for three months. Later Rhee, expressing the opinion that he would remove the obligations of the Berlin treaty, broadened a special "Pledge to the Meeting of the German People." (TASS, July 9.)"

...and from the countries of the West. The world's "left" was in a dilemma. "A big propaganda campaign was started, but we plan to speed it up..." (Walter Sullivan, N.Y. Times, July 9.)

This week is known, however, as the "storm week" among those who want to exploit the movement to their advantage. News week says that "the East German regime has failed to exploit the movement..."

The next day the Associated Press reported: "A storm week of opposition to the movement is beginning in West Berlin..."

All that emerges clearly in the reports is that the movement is being destroyed all around and that for "coming in support of the demonstration" they are being driven to despair. The same opinion is confirmed by the President's Press in Tokyo issued a dispatch.

The "Crimes" of Dr. Bergman

On April 23 in Copenhagen, Denmark, a Danish book was published, written by a man named Dr. Bergman. The book was called "The Crimes of Dr. Bergman." It accused the Danish government of numerous crimes, including "mass murder," "torture," and "atrocities." The author claimed to have evidence of these crimes, which he presented in detail. The book was highly controversial and sparked much debate.

The First Achievements Of China's 5-Year Plan

The next "plan" is in full swing. The country is making remarkable progress. The achievements so far are impressive. The first five years of the plan have been very successful. China has managed to achieve a significant increase in industrial output, agricultural production, and infrastructure development. The government has set ambitious targets for the next five years and is working hard to achieve them.

The "Militant" Prediction

The "Militant," a revolutionary newspaper, predicts that the people's war will soon be a "dreadful war." It states that the government is seeking a "war of extermination" to suppress the revolution. The newspaper calls for the people to resist and fight for their freedom.

Berea -- Victim of System He Helped Create

By Harry Franklin

The case of Lucien Parnes, the former secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, is a sad commentary on the system he helped create. Parnes was a powerful figure in the labor movement, but his actions were often questionable. He was accused of corruption and mismanagement, and the labor movement suffered as a result.

Berea Purge Reveals Grave Crisis in USSR

The purge in Berea is a grim reminder of the dangers facing the Soviet Union. The purge has caused widespread fear and uncertainty among the people. It has also weakened the Soviet Union's economy and military. The purge is a clear indication that the Soviet Union is facing a grave crisis.
