Laura Gray - Socialist And Militant Artist

By Art Preza

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 - The death occurred here after a two-day illness of Laura Gray, Russian-born, former social worker and artist, who here after a two-day illness. Laura was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, on Dec. 14, 1869, and she was buried here after a two-day illness at St. Luke's Hospital on Jan. 9. Her funeral was held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gray, in Brooklyn, on Jan. 10.

Laura was a woman of many interests and abilities. She was a painter, a writer, and a teacher. She was a member of the New York Art Institute and the American Federation of Arts. She was also a member of the Brooklyn Art Association and the Brooklyn Museum of Art. She was a member of the American Federation of Arts and the Brooklyn Art Association.

Laura was a woman of great talent and imagination. She was a woman of many interests and abilities. She was a painter, a writer, and a teacher. She was a member of the New York Art Institute and the American Federation of Arts. She was also a member of the Brooklyn Art Association and the Brooklyn Museum of Art. She was a member of the American Federation of Arts and the Brooklyn Art Association.

Laura was a woman of great talent and imagination. She was a woman of many interests and abilities. She was a painter, a writer, and a teacher. She was a member of the New York Art Institute and the American Federation of Arts. She was also a member of the Brooklyn Art Association and the Brooklyn Museum of Art. She was a member of the American Federation of Arts and the Brooklyn Art Association.

Laura was a woman of great talent and imagination. She was a woman of many interests and abilities. She was a painter, a writer, and a teacher. She was a member of the New York Art Institute and the American Federation of Arts. She was also a member of the Brooklyn Art Association and the Brooklyn Museum of Art. She was a member of the American Federation of Arts and the Brooklyn Art Association.

Laura was a woman of great talent and imagination. She was a woman of many interests and abilities. She was a painter, a writer, and a teacher. She was a member of the New York Art Institute and the American Federation of Arts. She was also a member of the Brooklyn Art Association and the Brooklyn Museum of Art. She was a member of the American Federation of Arts and the Brooklyn Art Association.
"She Left a Heritage So Rich..."

With deep pride and profound gratitude, we of the Socialist Workers Party cherish the memory of our beloved Laura Gray. She was a great warrior. Then and again she lifted up and gave fresh inspiration through her cartoons in the Militant. Sizable Homer, savage irony, indignant protest, political clarity and class traits blended effectively in her imagery. She struck out open armed forces in her support of the struggle for socialism.

Laura's work was appreciated by socialist fighters the world over. Her timely and timely cartoons have been printed and reprinted in the press of many countries. She left a heritage so rich that a spontaneous movement has already begun to provide means for publishing a full collection of her material in book form.

A look at this kind of work would provide a vivid pictorial history of key political issues and events since World War II. It would be priceless as an educator of the socialist address. Young revolutionary cartoonists yet to appear would be taught by Laura Gray and inspired to carry on her great tradition.

Young artists have even more to learn from her. Fame as a cartoonist left Laura unpretentious and undemanding in her relations with the movement. She was an unassuming woman, giving to the talents of others what was her own. She was an intellectual philanthropist. In choosing a gift for Laura, the socialist worker would do well to consider how она would have wished it used.
Labor and the Fight for Jobs

Unemployment in the United States is now estimated at about four million, a figure that is ten times the pre-war total for the same period. Add to this the shortened work-week with reduced pay, and you have a problem confronting the American labor movement of unprecedented proportions. Steel workers are being laid off daily; reports are that some 300,000 men are laid off this week in Ohio alone. Illinois has announced that 100,000 are working only part time. New York City alone has 2,000,000 people watching the weather and wonder what is going to happen tomorrow.

In order to point out that every man and woman in this country is entitled to a job, Robert F. Wagner and the National Recovery Administration have called a meeting this week. It is possible that some of the problems raised at this meeting will be resolved, but it is more likely that they will be ignored.

What do Meaney, Reuther, and Bershad have in their minds about the possibilities of their own future joblessness? What are their plans to meet the problem? What are the policies of their unions in attempting to prevent or alleviate unemployment? These are the questions that are being asked by millions of American workers, for these are the problems of the American race.

BRUHTEIN'S PROGRAM

Walter Reuther made headlines in the New York Times when he denounced "the fight for more jobs" by a speech at the 100th convention of the United Auto Workers at the last UAW convention. Reuther also succeeded in having the resolution concerning the launching of the Russian Socialist Revolution defeated in the New York State legislature.

According to the editor of the New York World, Walter Reuther "has been revealed as the B.B. of the American labor movement."

Reuther's program is based on the premise that the "American labor movement must build its own party - a party that will represent the interests of all the working people of the world." This program is in direct opposition to the one outlined by Reuther, which calls for the merger of all the Left groups into a single party.

In order to prove his case, Reuther quoted from a speech made by a former member of the Socialist Party, who said that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever been able to organize a single party.

"The problem of the growing number of workers unemployed," Reuther said, "is expressed in a statement by the Socialist party, which states that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever been able to organize a single party."

Editor of Daily Worker Quits Communist Party

By Harry Ring

The American "workers must raise their standard of living," Reuther said at the 100th convention of the United Auto Workers at the last UAW convention. Reuther also succeeded in having the resolution concerning the launching of the Russian Socialist Revolution defeated in the New York State legislature.

According to the editor of the New York World, Walter Reuther "has been revealed as the B.B. of the American labor movement."

Reuther's program is based on the premise that the "American labor movement must build its own party - a party that will represent the interests of all the working people of the world." This program is in direct opposition to the one outlined by Reuther, which calls for the merger of all the Left groups into a single party.

In order to prove his case, Reuther quoted from a speech made by a former member of the Socialist Party, who said that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever been able to organize a single party.

"The problem of the growing number of workers unemployed," Reuther said, "is expressed in a statement by the Socialist party, which states that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever been able to organize a single party."

"We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

WHAT LABOR SHOULD DEMAND

To win these demands will require an all-out struggle by labor on every economic and political front. This is not a time for the labor movement to sit by and watch the government that will act in the interests of the ruling class.

We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

"The problem of the growing number of workers unemployed," Reuther said, "is expressed in a statement by the Socialist party, which states that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever been able to organize a single party."

"We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

WHAT LABOR SHOULD DEMAND

To win these demands will require an all-out struggle by labor on every economic and political front. This is not a time for the labor movement to sit by and watch the government that will act in the interests of the ruling class.

We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

"The problem of the growing number of workers unemployed," Reuther said, "is expressed in a statement by the Socialist party, which states that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever been able to organize a single party."

"We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

WHAT LABOR SHOULD DEMAND

To win these demands will require an all-out struggle by labor on every economic and political front. This is not a time for the labor movement to sit by and watch the government that will act in the interests of the ruling class.

We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

"The problem of the growing number of workers unemployed," Reuther said, "is expressed in a statement by the Socialist party, which states that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever been able to organize a single party."

"We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

WHAT LABOR SHOULD DEMAND

To win these demands will require an all-out struggle by labor on every economic and political front. This is not a time for the labor movement to sit by and watch the government that will act in the interests of the ruling class.

We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

"The problem of the growing number of workers unemployed," Reuther said, "is expressed in a statement by the Socialist party, which states that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever been able to organize a single party."

"We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

WHAT LABOR SHOULD DEMAND

To win these demands will require an all-out struggle by labor on every economic and political front. This is not a time for the labor movement to sit by and watch the government that will act in the interests of the ruling class.

We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

"The problem of the growing number of workers unemployed," Reuther said, "is expressed in a statement by the Socialist party, which states that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever been able to organize a single party."

"We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

WHAT LABOR SHOULD DEMAND

To win these demands will require an all-out struggle by labor on every economic and political front. This is not a time for the labor movement to sit by and watch the government that will act in the interests of the ruling class.

We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

"The problem of the growing number of workers unemployed," Reuther said, "is expressed in a statement by the Socialist party, which states that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever been able to organize a single party."

"We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

WHAT LABOR SHOULD DEMAND

To win these demands will require an all-out struggle by labor on every economic and political front. This is not a time for the labor movement to sit by and watch the government that will act in the interests of the ruling class.

We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

"The problem of the growing number of workers unemployed," Reuther said, "is expressed in a statement by the Socialist party, which states that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever been able to organize a single party."

"We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

WHAT LABOR SHOULD DEMAND

To win these demands will require an all-out struggle by labor on every economic and political front. This is not a time for the labor movement to sit by and watch the government that will act in the interests of the ruling class.

We believe that more than security and employment, but with millions.

"The problem of the growing number of workers unemployed," Reuther said, "is expressed in a statement by the Socialist party, which states that the "Socialist Party is the only American labor movement that has ever be...
The Five Percenters
By William Bundy

I went to Plainfield, N.J. last week to get a little closer look at the Miltant plant there. One of the Miltant workers spoke to me, and told me that 400 or so employees had gone out on strike. The Miltant workers had been told that the strike was in support of the workers in this plant, who had been on strike for over a year. The Miltant workers were told that they had no choice but to go out on strike, or else they would be laid off. The strike lasted for over a week, and ended when the workers won their demands. The workers were able to negotiate a new contract that included a raise, a shorter workweek, and better working conditions. The Miltant workers were clearly very determined to fight for their rights, and they were able to achieve a significant victory.

Record of Speed-Up

Continued from page 1

Three strikes are recognized in Michigan, by a speech by Chrysler executive Robert Reuther. The strikes are: (1) Workers' - by the automobile companies; (2) Management - by the shop stewards; (3) Control - by the local press. The strikes have been increasing in frequency, and the workers have been losing ground. The workers are trying to organize, and the shop stewards are trying to establish their control. The local press is trying to prevent the workers from organizing, and the automobile companies are trying to prevent the workers from striking.

REUTHER

An article is the Oct. 2, 2007 issue of the Michigan Labor News, which is a magazine of the Michigan AFL-CIO. The article is about the Miltant Labor School, which is a labor school in Plainfield, N.J. The Miltant Labor School is a labor school for workers, and is run by the Miltant workers. The school is used to educate workers about organizing, and to teach them how to fight for their rights. The school has been very successful, and has taught many workers how to organize and fight for their rights.

Calendar of Events

New York

MILITANT LABOR FORUM

Thursday, Feb. 16, 5:30 P.M.

“Is the Economy Responsible for the Rise of Fascism?”

Mark Kessel, author of “The Labor Movement and the Rise of Fascism,” will speak.

SWP Begins Ballot Drive in Michigan

DETOUR, Jan. 15—A drive to secure a socialist ticket on the ballot in Michigan is under way, announced today by Rita Shaw, SWP federal political director.

It is expected that the Drive will be launched in Lansing on Jan. 25, with the support of local and state workers' unions, the Socialist Workers' Party and the Socialist Labor Party.

The Drive, which is the first in Michigan, will be conducted in cooperation with the Michigan State AFL-CIO, the Michigan Federation of Labor and the Michigan Democratic Party.

At 1957 Auto Convention

The 1957 Auto Convention was held in Detroit, Mich., in January. The convention was attended by many labor leaders, who discussed the problems facing the auto industry. The convention was a very important event, and helped to bring attention to the issues facing the auto workers.

Socialist Candidate in Seattle Endorsed by Molders Union

SEATTLE, Jan. 13—Socialist candidate Fred Hahn is endorsed by the Molders Union here, in the May 6 election.

Hahn is running against incumbent Democrat Gary McCune. The Molders Union is the largest union in Seattle, and has a strong record of supporting socialist candidates.

Wash. State Unions Map Fight on Right-to-Work

By Jack Wright

Seven hundred delegates representing AFL-CIO and independent unions from Washington State gathered in Seattle on Jan. 4, under the sponsorship of the United Labor Ad- visory Committee to map strategy for beating the “right-to-work” law through a ballot drive to adopt such a measure in Washington State. The meeting was one of the most important in the history of the state labor movement, and was attended by scores of union leaders, who discussed the issues facing the auto workers.

...Reuther Seeks to Knife UAW Demand

The campaign for the Michigan Auto Workers’ strike is in full swing, as the national labor movement is faced with a new challenge. The UAW has called a strike at the Michigan Motor Works, and the workers are threatening to strike unless their demands are met. The UAW is demanding a 20% wage increase, and the workers are demanding a 30% increase.

 uncle die to set aside one of the workers' checks. The checks are for the workers' families, and are paid out of the workers' wages. The workers are very angry about this, and they are planning to strike unless their demands are met.